

The University of South Carolina Beaufort announces its new state of the art campus on Hilton Head Island for Hospitality Management education (Hotel, Restaurant, Tourism, and Event Management):

- State of the art classrooms
- Demonstration kitchen
- Beverage Laboratory
- Small group meeting and classroom space

Hilton Head Island – A great place to live and learn the Hotel, Restaurant and Tourism Industry

- Earn your baccalaureate in Hospitality Management at an international destination where more than two million tourists come to vacation each year.
- The resorts of Hilton Head Island attract visitors from around the world, providing a unique opportunity for students to study hospitality management in a real-life learning laboratory.
- The Lowcountry and Resort Islands Tourism Institute and the Center for Event Management and Hospitality Training offer students scholarly pursuits that are unique to the coastal region. Internships and employment opportunities are available for students and graduates locally and around the world.

Graduates of the Hospitality Management program will be prepared to build successful careers in:

- Lodging and food service operations
- Private clubs
- Event management
- Management and entrepreneurial positions in vacation ownership companies
- Private and public tourism sectors

Dr. Charles L. Calvert
Professor of Hospitality Management
Dean, Hilton Head Island Campus
Interim Department Chair
University of South Carolina Beaufort
843.208.8218 • calvert@uscb.edu

